

Blessing Peter,

Hi Peter, please kindly go over this before our in person meeting so that you can ask any questions about the type of support that I am offering for Leaders and Visionaries. These are my two basic offers- and tailored to you.

Courageous Leaders & VBF (Visionary Best Friend) One-On-One Support

I quickly cover what is offered, prices (and possible payment options)

I also outline the core agreements to work with me

Support for both Courageous Leaders and Visionary Best Friend can cover a scope of any dream such as: events, creative expression, big projects, small projects, family dreams, ect

They also provide a safe space for all emotions and processes such as: Fear, excitement, rage, sorrow, grief

You are accepted both as the most vulnerable version of yourself as well as the most hero version of yourself.

Courageous Leaders

2 - 1 Hour Calls a week or 3-40 minute calls a week

We start by mapping out the vision, top priorities and creating real action maps & then we take lots of action - on the calls we can cover anything from 4 pillars (see below about the 4 pillars) as needed

It is expected that between calls action will be taken

Limited Co-Writing & Messaging. (For extensive writing there are extra charges.)

I also have a platform that I have created for project management, finance tracking, team building, ect) - that will be ready to be used with in a months time

I become the co-creator of the dream by your side and the co-space holder for miracles.

The SWEET Spot: This is the place we seek to dwell in- it is the space where the four overlap:

>>> Marketing Systems in action and bringing in systemized clients, funders, and investors

>>> Divine Expectancy is activated: And we are experiencing divine connections, surprise funds, clients out of the blue and a series of miracles
>>> The really big vision is very well developed and communicated
>>> Micro visions and real next steps are not only being identified but also taken

Key Goals In Quarter One:

>>> Work on creating Wefield in more depth
>>> Scheduling more Wefield in person and online testing
>>> Identifying more ideal clients, festivals, gatherings that are ideal for the soft launch of Wefield
>>> Creating the multiplication model for Wefield - how are we going to get this become a global movement
>>> Getting investors to invest in the growth of Wefield
>>> We will also explore what other professional and personal goals you have and work together towards them

The Four Pillars Of Courageous Leaders:

Courageous Leaders is built on four core pillars that support both personal and professional growth, while honoring that every leader's path is unique. It is about supporting you - the LEADER to grow, as well as your business to grow.

The work we do spans:

>>> Identity, Faith & Leadership
>>> Vision, Strategy & Aligned Execution
>>> Messaging, Systems & Sales
>>> Networking, Masterminding, Collaboration, & Collective Momentum.

Depending on where you are in your journey, your focus within these pillars may look different, but together they create the clarity, courage, structure, and support needed to move forward with confidence and real momentum to create real world results. We will weave these four pillars uniquely to create the results and dreams you desire.

VBF - Visionary Best Friend

Everything in Courageous Leaders with text and email support
You are able to request extra calls (with in reason) anytime in the week (if I am available I will schedule a call - and if not you can text)

For example this week one of my clients asked for an impromptu call - told me it wasn't logistics that it was energetic. She told me how she was waking up at night thinking of quitting and throwing in the rag on her business. We did some energy work together and this week she made $8000 in sales on Thursday. Now she is motivated to keep going!

VBF - Visionary Best Friend

You are provided with all of the Courageous Leadership Support

As well as extra support for you, the person who creates, holds, expands the vision (you need just as much love & care as your business does!)

I uniquely stand by your side as a fellow visionary (not as a coach, not as an employee, not as a personal assistant. What is better than one visionary mind- two visionary minds put together!) - I help you to think bigger and bigger as well as create real road maps, overcome real obstacles and take real action. I stand by your side in faith and courage.

Prioritize You As The Visionary

You are actually much more important than your vision. Without you being well taken care- who would courageously lead your vision into the global impact it is meant for? You come first because you are the creator, holder, and leader of an entire movement that is called to impact thousands and maybe even millions. Your body, your heart, and your spirit can not be put on the back burner.

In this role I stand beside you not only to help you map out your vision, build your teams and marketing systems, I also stand by your side to help you prioritize yourself as much as your vision.

We create and follow up on self care plans that prioritize your joy, your family, and your connection to nature and spirituality.

Together we create regular nervous systems practices to prepare you to hold your expansion, helping your body to feel safe to receive your next level of success. We also create emergency nervous system practices for when big excitements, disappointments, frustrations, surprise situations ect come up. We help you to ground even in the middle of the storm.

Help you to delegate more, more, and more. As a visionary, it is your role to stay in the role of visionary and your other strengths while fiercely delegating the rest (no, if's and ands or butts).
Doing Less = Stressing Less = More Success for you, your teams, and your movement

I help you to steward personal, team, and group momentum- aka I am your best cheerleader. When you and your team need extra motivation and encouragement I am there. Beside that - as a fellow visionary - I see where the first snow ball needs to be pushed down the hill to become the avalanche. I will point to the hill, race you over to it, and help you make those snowballs we push down the hill (aka- creating unstoppable momentum = extreme magnetism = growing movement)

I help you to architect rhythms of rest, rejuvenation, and sustainable leadership.

I remind you to be gentle, forgiving, and gracious to yourself during the process.

I insist that you develop a 'celebrating wins' rhythm (many visionaries hit goal points and just keep plowing to next without even taking a breath and allowing themselves to celebrate the small, medium and big wins - not when you work with me - we create a pattern of celebration)

I become a devoted witness who holds both you and your vision with love, integrity, and steadiness.
